JACOBUS'S BIG ARMY.

Many Thousands of Deputy Marshals Sworn In.

Will Fill Davenport's Cage with intending Democratic Voters.

Supt. Byrnes Orders the Police to Preserve Order To-Morrow.

Apprehension of disturbances at the polls to-morrow's election has not yet been wholly allayed in the minds of the citizens of this city by the acts and pronunciamentos of the Republican managers, United States Marshal Jacobus and Chief Supervisor of Elections John I. Davenport. The intent to enforce the worst provisions of the Force bul are reiterated by these officials, who asmert in terms that their authority under hazards. Federal law is in every respect paramount to the authority of the officers of the State and

The number of special deputy marshals sworn in by Marshal Jacobus is not known enpitely by any one but himself. It is said, however, to be more than 10,000, and they include very many of the worst characters in the city. One of the officials in Jacobus's mce said in explanation of the appointment of some especially disreputable-looking fellows that it was "extremely diment to get respectable men to serve." The character of the supervisors of election is a grade better than that of the deputy marshals, as it is required of each of them to be able at least to read and write.

Mr. Jacobus called together yesterday the construction of the constructi chief deputy marshals, to whom the command in each Assembly District is intrusted, why thirty chief deputy marshals and their respective headquarters are :

Prespatches from Washington state that Acting Attorney-General Aldrich has materially qualified the instructions given by him to United States Marshals. "Ordinarily," he says, "it will only be necessary that they be about, outside, ready for any emergency that may arise,"
